

Rural Health Outreach Grant Application

A hospital's relationship with its community is an integral part of its ability to serve residents and improve their access to healthcare. MultiPlan's Rural Health Outreach Grant seeks to help rural hospitals develop creative community outreach programs that encourage new services or reach new populations. Recipients of our Rural Health Outreach Grant will each receive up to $7,500 to implement outreach programs in their communities.

Program Information

Key program dates

- Deadline for applications: June 15, 2018
- Grant recipients announced: July 2018

Eligibility requirements

Applying hospitals must meet the following requirements to be eligible for a MultiPlan Rural Health Outreach Grant:

- The facility must be considered an inpatient hospital.
- The facility must provide acute care.
- The applicant must be located in a rural area as defined by the US Census Bureau.
- The applicant must be a participating provider in at least one of MultiPlan's PPO networks.
- A facility may submit only one program for consideration.
- The grant award may be used to replicate an outreach program conducted at another hospital or establish a new community outreach program.
- The community outreach program must be access-oriented; it must enhance its community's access to quality healthcare.
- The applicant must demonstrate how it will assess and monitor the progress of the proposed community outreach program.
- The applicant must show that, through the proposed outreach program, a new population will be served or a new service will be offered to an existing population, for example, through health screenings.
- A community or hospital match (either cash or in-kind) is encouraged and preferred, although it is not required.
